AUTHORIZATION AND RELEASE

I hereby give Genentech the right to use, reproduce, revise, or otherwise change and distribute my transplant story, which I have submitted for possible publication in the CellCept for Living newsletter, ON TRACK. I understand that my transplant story includes medical information about me, which I have voluntarily chosen to include in my story. I understand and agree that Genentech may use, and possibly revise, my transplant story for publication in CellCept for Living material AND for any transplant-related promotion, education or public awareness campaign. I further give Genentech the right to use my name for any commercial purpose in connection with its use of my transplant story. Genentech may publish, circulate or present my transplant story, with or without my name, in any way either by itself or with other written, printed, graphic or audio matter. I agree that any copyright related to my transplant story will be owned by Genentech. I will sign all documents and give whatever assistance is necessary to allow Genentech to obtain copyrights on my transplant story. I acknowledge that Genentech is under no obligation to use my transplant story or my name. Genentech may allow any other individual or corporation to exercise the rights given to Genentech above.

I acknowledge that in return for giving Genentech the right to own and use my transplant story and to use my name, Genentech has provided me with the potential opportunity to share my transplant story with other transplant recipients.

I hereby represent and warrant that the work I have submitted is not plagiarized and does not infringe upon the rights of any other individual or entity.

I have read this Authorization and Release and understand its meaning. No promises have been made to me to obtain my signature on this Authorization and Release.
